

How should we remember the Holocaust?

© www.teachhistory.co.uk 2012

19795

1

The Holocaust Memorial in Miami Beach

© milan.boers 2009
<http://www.flickr.com/photos/milanboers/3307466110/>

© www.teachhistory.co.uk 2012

19795

2

Holocaust memorial in Raoul Wallenberg Memorial Garden, Budapest; each leaf bears the name of a family killed by the Nazis

© NH53 2003
<http://www.flickr.com/photos/nh53/5150407509/>

© www.teachhistory.co.uk 2012

19795

3

Memorial to the Murdered Jews of Europe, Berlin

© Philippe AMIOT 2011
<http://www.flickr.com/photos/philippeamiot/5966483335/>

© Philippe AMIOT 2011
<http://www.flickr.com/photos/philippeamiot/596690866/>

© www.teachhistory.co.uk 2012

19795

4

The Stumbling Blocks, Cologne, Germany

The project consists of pavement memorials remembering victims of the Nazi Regime, on the pavement outside their last "residence of choice". Over 20,000 of the commemorative blocks have been laid in towns and cities in Germany and many other countries across Europe.

© leynik 2011
<http://www.flickr.com/photos/leynik/6175942692/>

© www.teachhistory.co.uk 2012

19795

5

Shoes on the Danube Promenade, Budapest

© munkaync 2007
<http://www.flickr.com/photos/munkaync/412916626/>

© www.teachhistory.co.uk 2012

19795

6

Holocaust Memorial in San Francisco

© Shannon Clark 2008 <http://www.flickr.com/photos/shannonclark/3117153538/>